

ACCEPTABLE USE POLICY

Updated: 25 February 2019

Use of the SCOOTA name and logo is allowed but certain policies need to be considered. The SCOOTA name and logo refers to our services or other offerings.

- Do not use the logo in a way that suggests or implies partnership, sponsorship or endorsement by SCOOTA, unless you have a written agreement with us specifying such relationship.
- Do not incorporate the SCOOTA name or logo, or anything confusingly similar, into your or others' trademarks, domain names, logos or similar content.
- Do not feature our name or logo on materials associated with unlawful activity or content which is negative, disparaging or otherwise harmful to SCOOTA or its affiliates.

We may modify our Acceptable Use Policy at any time and will post the most current version on our site. You're responsible for complying with any modified terms. We reserve the right to enforce this Policy in our sole discretion.

The SCOOTA name and logo and any other marketing materials or other downloadable content are provided by SCOOTA "as-is". SCOOTA makes no warranties, express, implied or statutory, regarding the accuracy, completeness, performance, merchantability, fitness for use, non-infringement, or other attributes of such materials.
